Founding Member | lpattick@patricklawgroup.com

Lizz Patrick is the founder of Patrick Law Group. Over the span of her 22 year career, she has prepared and negotiated thousands of commercial and construction contracts.

Ms. Patrick has also successfully prepared and negotiated procurement and commercial contracts for her Clients, with contracts ranging from master agreements for the development and installation of telecom infrastructure and equipment to global sourcing agreements, including contracts for indefinite or “open supply” of materials or equipment, independent contractor and professional service agreements, master service contracts for the major equipment and systems over multiple sites, and material handling and other logistics system development, installation and service contracts.

Her experience includes design, service, procurement, construction and project management contracts for a wide variety of national and international project types and transactions, including fixed price, cost plus, and guaranteed maximum cost contracts, master service agreements and complex variations thereof. She has expertise and experience with a variety of project structures including design-bid-build, design-build, “fast track”, phased design and construction, construction management at risk and not-at-risk, multiple prime, turn-key, and engineering, procurement, and construction (“EPC”) project delivery.

Leveraging her transactional as well as her dispute resolution background, Ms. Patrick has assisted a number of Clients with developing standardized contracts for operational use and support, along with providing specific and tailored in-house training and procedures for the use of those forms. Her dedication, responsive service and reasonable fees have resulted in Client relationships which have spanned over a decade.

Her Clients include fortune 100 and other well-known profit and not-for profit companies, ranging from health care systems and office and retail developers, telecommunications, media to cosmetics businesses..

In recognition of her outstanding legal ability and experience, Ms. Patrick has named in the International Who’s Who of top Construction Lawyers in the world, as well as in Chambers U.S.A. She has also been selected as a Georgia Super Lawyer from 2004-2011, as one of the Top 50 Female Super Lawyers, and as a Law Dragons New Star..

She has achieved Martindale-Hubbell's highest rating of AV for legal ability and ethical standards. She is a frequent speaker and publisher.

Prior to starting Patrick Law Group, Ms. Patrick was a partner in the Real Estate and Construction Groups at two Am Law 100 Law Firms located in Atlanta, Georgia, and, at one of those firms, she served as the Practice Group Leader.
